v.	)
	)	By: Elizabeth K. Dillon
LISA VASQUEZ-AHUMADA	)	United States District Judge

MEMORANDUM OPINION

Before the court is defendant Lisa Vasquez-Ahumada's pro se motion for early termination of supervised release. (Dkt. No. 513.) The government has not filed an objection to the motion. Neither party requested a hearing, and the court finds that a hearing is not necessary to resolve Vasquez-Ahumada's motion. The court will grant Vasquez-Ahumada's motion.<sup>1</sup>

I. BACKGROUND

On July 26, 2018, Vasquez-Ahumada pleaded guilty to conspiracy to distribute cocaine (Count 1) and conspiracy to sell/dispose of firearms to illegal alien (Count 2). (Dkt. No. 181.) She was sentenced to 44 months' imprisonment for each count to run concurrently followed by three years' supervised release (on each count to run concurrently). (Dkt. No. 341.)

Ms. Vasquez-Ahumada began her term of supervision on October 25, 2021.

On February 14, 2024, Vasquez-Ahumada filed a pro se motion for early termination of her remaining supervised release term. Vasquez-Ahumada has not violated the terms of her supervised release, has completed a drug treatment program, and has maintained full-time employment. All fines and fees related to her underlying offense conduct have been paid in full.

<sup>1</sup> A hearing is not required by the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure because the relief sought is favorable to defendant and the government received notice and did not file an objection. Fed. R. Crim. P. 32.1(c)(2).

Finally, Ms. Vasquez-Ahumada's was placed on the administrative caseload on April 28, 2023, due to her good behavior while on supervision.

II. ANALYSIS

Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 3583(e), a court may, after considering the factors set forth in 18 U.S.C. § 3553(a), terminate a term of supervised release at any time after the expiration of one year of supervised release if it is satisfied that such action is warranted by the conduct of the defendant and the interest of justice. As at sentencing, courts consider several factors, including the nature and circumstances of the offense, the history and characteristics of the defendant, the need for the sentence imposed to afford adequate deterrence, and the need to protect the public from further crimes of the defendant. 18 U.S.C. § 3553(a).

Courts have discretion whether to grant early termination of supervised release, even when the conditions for termination are met. Folks v. United States, 733 F. Supp. 2d 649, 651 (M.D.N.C. 2010). In addition, the inquiry is broader than the individual's conduct. United States v. Pregent, 190 F.3d 279, 282–83 (4th Cir. 1999). “Circumstances that justify early discharge have included exceptionally good behavior that makes the previously imposed term of supervised release ‘either too harsh or inappropriately tailored to serve’ general punishment goals.” Folks, 733 F. Supp. 2d at 651 (quoting United States v. Lussier, 104 F.3d 32, 36 (2d Cir. 1997)). Neither the passage of time nor full compliance with the terms of supervised release are sufficient bases to warrant early termination. United States v. Ferris, Case No. 5:14-CR-0008, 2021 WL 1588972, at *2 (W.D. Va. Apr. 22, 2021).

While Vasquez-Ahumada's offense was serious, she has now served her sentence and has passed the half-way point of her supervised release term.

The court finds that there is no longer a need to protect the public or to deter Vasquez-Ahumada from committing further crimes through the ongoing imposition of release conditions. For these reasons, the court will grant Vasquez-Ahumada's motion for early termination of her supervised release.

III. CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Vasquez-Ahumada's motion for early termination of supervised release (Dkt. No. 513) will be granted. The court will issue an appropriate order.

Entered: March 5, 2024.
